

British Geriatrics Society
Improving healthcare for older people

Calling all UK Physician Associates and PA trainees interested in geriatric medicine

Join us

Why join us?

The British Geriatrics Society is the professional body of specialists in the health care of older people in the United Kingdom. Geriatrics is the largest medical specialty in the UK, and the majority of consultant geriatricians and trainee geriatricians are members of our Society. So are a growing number of specialist nurses, therapists, and other allied health professionals. We are proudly multidisciplinary!

We welcome all relevant disciplines, including Physician Associates and those in training, who have an interest in the care of older people. Our range of professional support and benefits, include:

- Regular conferences focused on professional learning, including sessions on frailty, continence, dementia, delirium, perioperative care, nutrition, falls and other key issues
- Discounted registration fees for all multi-disciplinary BGS events
- Print and online subscriptions to the influential Age and Ageing journal (enhanced benefit)
- Access to a network of specialists and experts in the care of older people
- Bi-monthly BGS Newsletter
- Monthly ebulletin
- Membership of disorder-specific special interest groups focusing on dementia and related conditions, falls prevention and bone health, community geriatrics, nutrition and many more
- An influential national policy voice, on subjects including frailty, dignity and care homes

Publications and projects

The BGS produces publications including clinical best practice guidance, often in collaboration with Royal Colleges and third sector partners. A recent example includes:

Fit for Frailty: This two-part guidance document focuses on improving the care and treatment of older people with frailty, and was developed in close collaboration with the Royal College of Nursing, the Royal College of General Practitioners, the and Age UK.

Part 1 is aimed at front-line healthcare professionals working in community and outpatient settings: nurses, social workers, ambulance crews, carers, GPs and others. Part 2 provides advice and guidance on the development, commissioning and management of services for people living with frailty in community settings.

Providing excellent care requires clinical knowledge, but also an understanding that older people's needs are best met using a multi-professional approach.

The BGS's multi-professional approach has led the way on dealing with a growing need, and is just one of many reasons why as a nurse I am proud to be a BGS member.

Cliff Kilgore

Advanced Nurse Practitioner, Bournemouth, and member of the BGS Nurses and AHPs Section

How to join us

We offer two different tiers of membership. Our standard subscription includes all of our main member benefits. Our enhanced membership adds a full print and online subscription to our influential Age and Ageing journal, worth over £500.

Online registration is available at www.bgs.org.uk [Select Join Now].

How to get more involved

- Look out for national officer and committee vacancies in BGS Newsletter and on our website
- Attend our Spring and Autumn Meetings and other conferences to network with colleagues from all relevant disciplines from across the UK. Attendance at our major conferences is heavily discounted for BGS members
- Submit an abstract to our major meetings to showcase your research findings
- In addition to being a member of the British Geriatrics Society, you are welcome to join one or more of our Special Interest Groups and Sections, which focus on specific health issues affecting older people
- Get involved locally! Our national Councils in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, and regional offices throughout England, hold clinical meetings once or twice each year. They are always pleased to hear from new members wanting to get involved
- Blog for us! Tell us about how things are locally or draw readers' attention to a specific experience or issue you care about. Our blog is viewed around times 10,000 each month making it one of the best ways to communicate with fellow members and others
- Follow us on Twitter @Gerisoc, we have more than 17,000 followers. You can also follow our events via #BGSconf

For more information on all of these activities, please see our website www.bgs.org.uk

The British Geriatrics Society
Improving healthcare for older people

Marjory Warren House
31 St John's Square
London EC1M 4DN

Telephone 020 7608 1369
Email enquiries@bgs.org.uk
Website www.bgs.org.uk